Dora and Dan took a trip on the train. They had on trainers to trot down the track to the train. They went across the road to avoid the traffic and then stood waiting for the train.

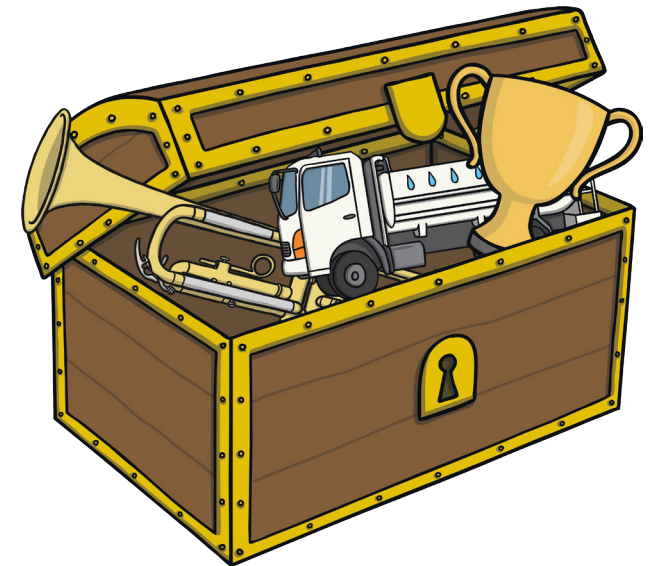

“It’s so good to travel,” said Dora as they got on the train.

Dan agreed and with a tremor the train set off. After some travelling, they got to a forest

“Look at the trees,” said Dora. “It looks tropical.”

At the stop, they got off the train and went down a trail that led into the forest. Then, they put down a picnic blanket.

Near them was a box, in a trench under a tree.

“Look Dan,” she said, pointing at it. “Is it good or is it just trash?”

They crept to the box and got it from the trench.

“It might be a trick,” said Dan.

With a little tug of the box lid, they were in. In the box, there was a little trumpet and a little truck.

“It is not a trap,” said Dora. “I think it is fantastic!”
